Weekend Buzz

The buzz on the weekend in the Charleston SC low country

By Jeff Walker, Entertainment Writer

Here we are at the weekend already. Spoleto and Piccolo Spoleto are winding down. Seems like just the other day they were gathered at City Hall to kick off the festival. Plenty of great performances and shows to catch during the final weekend. Here are a few we recommend.

Over at the Memminger Auditorium the performance of 'Don Juan' continues with shows Friday at 8pm and Saturday afternoon at 3:30pm and 8:30pm. Tickets begin at $25. At the Footlight Players Theatre on Saturday afternoon you can see 'Sophie Tucker: Last Of The Red Hot Mamas' beginning at 1pm. Later Saturday night you can see a truly divine play put on by Libby Skala titled, 'A Time To Dance' The one hour production is a celebration of her great aunt's highs and lows during more than 100 years of life. Skala repeats the performance on Sunday at 3pm.
